

Lansing Technology Organization Seeks Instructors

Opportunity to teach two-hour afternoon, evening and weekend sessions in Microsoft Word and Excel and Everyday Use of the Internet

If you say Yes! to these questions...

- Do you have good teaching skills?
- Are you knowledgeable in Microsoft Word and Excel and/or everyday use of the Internet – online banking, job applications, information searching, etc.?
- Are you interested in inspiring local adults who need basic computer skills?
- Positive attitude and a desire to make a difference?

Then join us and enrich the lives of Lansing area adults by teaching mini-sessions at the Information Technology Empowerment Center, 200 North Foster Ave, Lansing (in the Foster Community Center).

- Beginning December 2011 and January/February 2012
- Email resume to info@iteclansing.org or call (517) 708-4392

A Lansing-based nonprofit organization, the Information Technology Empowerment Center increases the technology skills of Michigan children to better prepare them for a fast-paced, global IT-based economy. ITEC classes, camps, and tutoring programs enable youth to work towards academic and career success through innovative science, technology, engineering, and math experiences.
